PENDLETON ON GRANT AND COL-

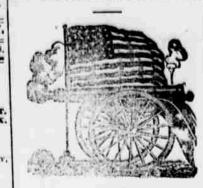

MR. PENDLETON, in his speech made at Bangor, Me., made the following allusion to the Republican nominees for President and Vice-President

"I shall not disparage the ability or character of our opponents. I would not, if I could, pluck one leaf from the laurels of General Grant. Whatever may be his ability as a soldier he has stood the test of success, and so far as I have known he has borne himself with mod-eration and magnaninity in his high of-fice. I have known Mr. Colfax well for many years. I have seen him in pos-session of great power. He is an amia-ble and estimable gentleman, and would perform with dignity the duties of the high office to which he aspires.

The following is from the St. Paul (Minn.) Press, of September 19:
Gov. Orr., of South Carolina, who is now in this city, has been giving some of the leading Democrats here a piece of his mind on the bungling way the Democracy have been managing matters of late. To one of them, who was a delegate to the Tammany Convention, he said that the nominations of Seymour and Blair were both great mistakes.

Seymour, because he represented impracticable and absolete ideas, and Blair on account of his revolutionary letter.

Besides, Blair was a military man, and the Democracy set out with the idea of having a great civilian statesman, and they should have been consistent in that idea. Pendelton was equally objectionable on account of his identity with old, worn out polities. If the Democracy had nominated Chase, the Governor said, his name, so long identified with the abolition of slavery, would have enabled the Democracy to carry every Southern State. Now, they may possible cause was a hopeiess one, he went to be cause was a hopeiess one, he went to be cause was a hopeiess one, he went to be cause was a hopeiess one, he went to be cause was a hopeiess one, he went to be cause was a hopeiess one, he went to be cause was a hopeiess one, he went to be cause was a hopeiess one, he went to be cause was a hopeiess one, he went to be cause was a hopeiess one, he went to be constant. the abolition of sinvery, would have en-abled the Democracy to carry every Southern State. Now, they may possi-bly carry Georgia and Alabama—the rest would all go for Grant. He further said that it is a greet mistake for the Democracy to insist on being represent-ed in the Convention: that the crowd of

has been acknowledged by our Minister at Madrid. The revolution there has proved entirely successful. Gen. Serano, leader of the revolutionists, has possession of Madrid. Delegates to a constitutional convention have been elected.

The New York Tribune styles the elections in the five States on Tuesday as the battle of Five Forks of 1868, and thinks the Democrats may as well abandon all hopes of success in November.

The N. Y. Herald says of the late elections: The loss of Pennsylvania to the Democracy is a death blow to Seymour, and clearly indicates the election of Grant, and probably involves the less of New York State to the Democracy.

Our Chicago Letter.

CHICAGO, Oct. 10, 1868 EDITOR SENTINEL: Notwithstanding the command "Remember the Sabbath day to keep it holy," a very large proportion of the people of this city and the neighboring State of Indiana will preach politics instead of religion, and profane o-morrow, offering as an excuse, the present political excitement. Why it is o I am unable to fully say, but the hardest fought battle of the campaign will be in Indiana, the comparatively small number of electoral votes from that State will reach their seats through more political debris than those from any other State of the Union. Only two days now intervene before the final cast of ballots decides the issue, and those two days will see the political atmos phere at such a white heat as never be fore enveloped American soil.

"Lo," better known as the poor Indian, is receiving a good deal of attention in consequence of the contemplated action by the commission now in session in this city. The noble aborigince is by no means a pleasant subject for contemplation or contact. Mind and none recoil at the picture of squalor, brutality and thorough uselessness he presents. MR. EDITOR: We wants railroad runing north from Oregon. Will such a lon about the value of "Greenbacks," road pay? Can it be built? For the con-sideration of doubters, I desire to pre-sent a few hastily prepared figures. As ing the most valuable and beautifully ila starting point, I assume that land in lustrated journal, adapted to the wants Helt county has been enhanced in value of every Man, Woman, and Child, in by the completion of the C. B. & St. Jo. City, Village, or Country-the Ameri-Road. Now, let us assume that this ratlo of enhancement in lands on each side it was originally started, 27 years ago, of a road running from Oregon up the Nodaway to Chrinda. Iowa, shall be made, say, for a strip of country only five miles wide on each side of the road; this would be 6,400 acres of land to each mile of road, increased in value $5 per acre, giving $32,000 per mile profit to the landowners on their lands. But allow the increase in value to be only $2 50 per acre, von have $16,000 per mile increased value of lands, or more than sufficient to grade, tie, iron, and equip the proposed road. Again, suppose that five miles for Children and Youth. It is taken and on each side of the road, one thousand additional acres of corn should be put into cultivation on account of the Railroad, which should bring an increased price on account of proximity to markets of only five cents per bushel, you would have in increased value of corn $2,000 per annum for every mile of the road, or a sum sufficient to pay its running expenses. This proposed road, on account of its easy grades, can be built for less than $12,000 per mile, in the opinion of competent engineers. It would pay the citizens of Holt, Andrew, and Nodway counties themselves to build the road even if they failed to get one dollar of foreign aid. We are lad to believe however, that all that will be required from the citizens along the line to-secure s road from Banks' Spring to Clarinda, Iowa, will be money enough to grade the road. The display of a little energy on the part of our citizens will secure it, and open up to settlement as fertile a valley as the sun ever shone upon, with an un derlying strata of excellent bituminous coal for most of the way.

Mr. Editor, let us agitate this scheme until we make it a success, is the carnest desire of one of the

This is the way to push the financial question—to tell the truth about it. To show that although the rebellion of the Southern wing of the Democratic party, sustained by the opposition offered to the Government by Mr. Seymour and bits friends, has thrown a great debt upon the death of Dr. J. THE REBEL SOLDIERS. We have often wondered how a rebel soldier could feel otherwise than disgusted with the stay-at-home companions of his lost cause. The letters of Maj. Kouts, of Callaway, on Hockaday, breathe a spirit which it seems to us every honest rebel soldier ought naturally to feel. The honest rebel soldier enlistto feel. The honest rebel soldier enlisted in a cause which the stay-at-home rebels professed to deem sacred, and the success of which they begged lim to achieve. They implored him not to be cast down by reverses, or be dismayed by defeats; but to persevere till the cause was successful or utterly lost. The rebel soldier did fight for the Southern Confederacy as long as its shadow could be seen. It was a hard service. Without pay, and often without shelter or food, he adhered to his cause with a fortitude never surpassed.

food, he adhered to his cause with a fortitude never surpaseed.

At the end of this long and futile service, what is his reward? Do the stay-athome friends of his cause, adhere to him in the day of his ill-fortune? Not a bit of it. To a man, they swear that they never had a spark of sympathy with him or his cause, and that whatever political disability he may have incurred by his treason, their skirts are clear.
Baser conduct could not be imagined,
and we cannot see how a rebel soldier can help despising it. Imagine how a Union soldier would have felt, if he had returned whipped, and found every stay-at-home Union man swearing that he had always been a friend of the Southern Confederacy!
We are not of those who would make the rebel soldier bear the whole brunt of the rebellion, the more especially as the rebellion, the more especially as they have demeaned themselves as men ought to do—at least in this vicinity.

We would confer upon them the right of suffrage, long before we would suffer
their stay-at-home friends to enjoy it.—

Ir isn't of the slightest consequence to anybody, but we suppose it is, nevertheless, a fact, that Seward has declared for Grant and Colfax.
